

Palais Royal Remnant Day Treasures

Why "Remnant Day" and why "Treasures?" Remnant Day—Thursday here—clears the store of odds and ends that are a nuisance to us—treasures for you. For instance—$25 is to suffice to-day for choice of three $40 Ramie Linen Suits, hand-embroidered; one each, in natural, white, and blue. $20 will buy a $30 Linen Suit, with coat of linen embroidery in eyelet effect. $12.98 for a few $25 Linen Suits, with the classic lines linked only with man-tailoring of the highest order. $10 for a $20 Lingerie Dress, a poem in dainty wash lace and Swiss embroidery. Treasures, as valuable in their way as these, dot all five floors on Remnant Day. And to-day is the day!

$6.98 for Dresses and Suits Worth $10 and Up

The lucky visitors who carry off the one-piece Linen Dresses, with Russian blouse and pleated skirts, at only $6.98 will secure rare treasures. And think of only $6.98 for a Linen Dress with hand-embroidered waist! And dresses with artistically braided waist and overskirts are treasures rare at $6.98. So are the French Lawn Dresses with pin stripes forming checks. The few with three-quarter sleeves, yoke and collar of fine valenciennes lace, and tunic effect skirt with pleated flounce would be treasures at $10. So with the dainty dresses with Dutch neck, with side pleating on waist and torchon lace on skirt, forming Russian blouse. Remnants—last of quickest selling lots—but treasures when the price is reduced to only $6.98.

Waists, $1.89

Some Worth $5.00.

The picture gives an idea how stylish and attractive they are. And note that some are hand-embroidered. Those lace-trimmed are a treat to see and handle, so fine in quality and perfect in finish. Treasures—such Waists would be treasures at twice $1.89. Come soon after breakfast, and you'll be rewarded with $5.00 Waists for only $1.89.

Skirts, $1.89

Best Man-Tailored.

Of imported rep and pure linen, man-tailored throughout, these Skirts possess the classic lines machines can't give. Better in material, better in shape, better in finish, better in fit, they are cheaper in the end than cheap skirts. Add the satisfaction of being credited with an expensive skirt rather than one that looks and is cheap.

After evading the military authorities and police for ten years, Frederick L. Conlee, of 231 F street northwest, was arrested yesterday by Detectives Cox and Berman on a charge of being a deserter from the army.

Conlee enlisted shortly after the Spanish-American war and was sent with the American detachment of troops to China when the allied nations put down the Boxer rebellion.

Conlee was a printer by trade and was offered a large salary to take charge of an English newspaper published in India. He deserted, accepted the position, and has been missing until a few weeks ago, when he returned to Washington.

After leaving India he published a paper in Lincoln, Neb., for a time, and while there took a leg in a railroad accident. The death of his parents here and the consequent coming of a small fortune brought him back to Washington, to his old home, where he was arrested yesterday.

Frederick L. Conlee, Sent to China with Troops During Boxer Troubles, Escapes to India to Publish Paper—Returns Home to Get Fortune and Is Captured.

Conlee was a printer by trade and was offered a large salary to take charge of an English newspaper published in India. He deserted, accepted the position, and has been missing until a few weeks ago, when he returned to Washington.

After leaving India he published a paper in Lincoln, Neb., for a time, and while there took a leg in a railroad accident. The death of his parents here and the consequent coming of a small fortune brought him back to Washington, to his old home, where he was arrested yesterday.

On account of the length of time which has elapsed since the offense and his present physical disability, he will probably receive a light sentence.

Taft Wins at Golf.

Lines Up with Champion Walter J. Travis in a Foursome.

There was one thing in Washington that President Taft was not willing to tackle yesterday and that was the record made by W. J. Travis, champion golfer, so instead Mr. Taft lined up with Mr. Travis against Gen. Clarence R. Edwards and Capt. A. W. Butt in a foursome over the Chevy Chase links.

CENTRAL HIGH'S ART EXHIBIT.

Work of Regular and Special Classes Attracts Attention.

The art exhibition at the Central High School is attracting considerable attention among art critics of the city, who have shown marked appreciation of the work done by the pupils of the regular and special classes.

Miss Annie M. Wilson, head of the drawing and art instruction of the high school, assisted by Miss Page Taylor, is in charge.

The exhibit will continue to-day from 10 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock in the evening, and to-morrow until 10 in the evening.

ARMY AND NAVY.

Army Orders.

Leave for ten days, on or about June 20, granted Capt. MORRIS C. KERTH, Twenty-third Infantry.

By direction of the President, Capt. WILLIAM H. MENGES, Coast Artillery Corps, is relieved from duty at Ohio Wesleyan University, to take effect June 10.

So much of paragraph 28, Special Orders No. 123, May 26, 1910, as relates to Capt. CONRAD S. SHIGERMAN, Medical Reserve Corps, is hereby discharged from the service.

First Lieut. GEORGE B. FOSTER, Jr., Medical Reserve Corps, will report to the commanding officer, Washington Barracks, District of Columbia, for temporary duty during the absence of Capt. CHARLES R. REYNOLDS, Medical Corps, at Gettysburg.

First Lieut. SOLOMON B. WEST, Sixteenth Infantry, designated as special disbursing agent of the pay department for Fort Davis, Alaska.

By direction of the President, First Lieut. HARRY P. SHIGERMAN, Medical Reserve Corps, is honorably discharged from the service.

MOTORMAN HEARS THE STORY OF "HANDS-ACROSS THE SEA"

"I see they pulled off the big wedding across the pond to-day," observed the suburbanite to the motorman of his electric P. A. Y. E. car last night. "Umph," volunteered the motorman, as he glanced at the sign warning passengers not to talk to the chauffeur. The suburbanite read the company's injunction carefully and just as carefully proceeded to show his utter disregard for the official mandates by continuing: "It was some wedding, according to the papers. Good things come in threes, they say, and a Johnny Bull ain't any Heck when it comes to spotting them. This is the start of three hands-across-the-sea double harness events in which a perfectly healthy American fortune is swapped for a coronet. They're all booked for this month, and to-day's was a great start. You heard about it, motorman?" "Huh," agreed that dignitary, as he stopped the car to let a woman get off backward.

"Well, Tony Drexel's daughter, Margaretta, offered the red-white-and-blue end of the wedding, and Viscount Maitland was on the receiving end. The viscount, you know, is the eldest son of the Earl of Winchelsea and Nottingham, and Miss Drexel is the daughter of a king. Tony is only a traction and banking king, however, and titles don't go with those offices, even in Philadelphia. So the cards are sent out for the Big Promise Act by the American fortune and the English title.

"The wedding was attended by all the nobility on both sides of the big drink and went off smoothly. I say smoothly because the newspapers say so, but I know there was a hitch in one part of the proceedings. Get that? Hitch—wedding—thought it myself. Not bad eh?" The motorman looked pityingly at the suburbanite, who went on:

"All the nobles of the church looked in splinting them while thousands loomed on a big shindig at the Drexel London home followed the affair at the church, and there the guests got a look at the presents. And such presents!

"Five hundred thousand round Saturday Nights is an estimate of the value of the returns for the invitations to the wedding. There were presents galore. Somebody gave the couple a diamond dog collar with no directions as to who was to wear it. Then J. Pierp. Morgan chimed in with a yard of diamond chain, while other friends without number contributed to the assortment of junk shovelled upon the two. I didn't notice in the list just what the viscount's pa had given besides the coveted title.

"But Tony Drexel's going to make the new son-in-law hustle. He cuts him off with a mere $100,000 a year for one year, to be increased in chunks of $10,000 every twelve months. Now that boy has got a hard row to hoe, has he not? He most assuredly has—not. He's a pretty good

Did You Ever Consider The relative importance of your refrigerator and your piano? The health of your family is every day intrusted to your refrigerator. But it is so much a habit to pay a small price for a refrigerator and a large price for a piano that, on account of the price limitations, wholesomeness in a refrigerator is frequently sacrificed to cheapness. May we have an opportunity of showing you why it is to your interest to buy a
